Talk of the Town

Development Ordinance Update

Members of the Town Council, Zoning Board, and Long-Range Planning Board have been working with town staff, the town attorney, and Municipal Code Corporation for over a year to revise and update the town's Development Ordinance. These people volunteered many long hours on this assignment and we thank them for their service.

The development ordinance regulates such things as zoning, land use, signage, streets and parking, watershed protection, and erosion control. While it is not a particularly exciting document to read, its provisions are key in managing growth and development in Pleasant Garden and preserving the qualities that make this town special and attractive.

Most of the proposed amendments address changes in state and/or federal requirements and changes to town operating procedures through the years. The required Jordan Lake watershed protection ordinances and flood damage control ordinances are combined into this one document instead of having three separate ordinances to make it simpler by having all the regulations in one accessible place.

Optional significant changes under consideration include the following:

- Provisions to allow for the consideration of residential cluster development with stringent restrictions
- Allowing multi-family dwellings in agricultural and RS-80 zoning with development standards
- Allowing twin homes or duplexes in RS-80 zoning (they are already allowed in agricultural zoning)
- Regulation of allowable locations for Internet sweepstakes businesses
- Elimination of the Manufactured Housing Overlay District and allowance of manufactured homes in RS-80 and RS-40 zoning with development standards
- Required relocation or replacement of trees of 36-inches or more in diameter that are cut down during the development of property
- Clarification in surety bond requirements for new roads

The entire draft ordinance is on the town website at www.pleasantgarden.net/Development%20Ordinance.html

The Town Council will hold a public hearing to receive citizen comments on the revised ordinance before final adoption later this year. Citizens will be notified of this hearing through the Blackboard Connect system, on the town website, and a legal notice in the News & Record. Citizens' feedback is needed and welcomed!

Parking Lot Construction Update

Construction is nearly complete on the improvements to the soccer fields driveway and parking area. There are 200 marked parking spaces that include seven concrete spaces for the handicapped. The 20-foot wide driveways are now in compliance with code requirements and trees have been planted in the parking area. A paved quarter-mile asphalt walking path circles the parking lot area to provide better pedestrian safety and exercise opportunities.

Veterans Appreciation Day

The Town's annual Veterans Appreciation Day event will be held at 2:00pm on Sunday, November 6 at the Pleasant Garden Fire Department. Committee chair Mary Ann Yow is working with the Recreation Board to plan another moving ceremony with speakers and displays to honor the community's servicemen and women.

Seeking Members for Town Boards

The newly-elected Town Council will be making appointments to the town's three boards at their first meeting on Tuesday, December 6. Half of the board members will receive a two-year term and half will serve for a one-year term. Any Pleasant Garden resident who is interested in serving on one of these boards – Long-Range Planning Board, Zoning Board, and Recreation Board – should complete a board application form. These forms can be picked up at Town Hall and are available online at <http://www.pleasantgarden.net/Board%20Application.html>

Stormwater Ordinance for New Development

The Town Council has submitted a draft ordinance on stormwater control for approval by the NC Department of Environment and Natural Resources as required by the state. This ordinance will only affect new development in those parts of Pleasant Garden in the Jordan Lake watershed and will take effect in approximately May 2012.
